Aerial Division to Lose Services of Capt. Beck and Lieut. Foulois.

A "Manchu' 'order issued by the War Department commands Capt. Paul Beck and Lieut. Benjamin Feulois, veteran aviators in the Government service, to return to their regiments. This means they must quit aeronautics May 1.

In the departure of Captain Beck and Lieutenant Foulois the army loses two great filers. Their removal is not due to any misconduct on their part, but because of a ruling of the War Department, ordering a man back to his regiment after he has been four years in some other branch. A special ruling may be obtained in Captain Beck's case so as to keep him in the aviation school. His knowledge of aerial navigation has stamped him as one of the greatest filers in the country. His services in the aviation school have been so useful that his friends may ask for a special ruling whereby he may remain with the army aviators

Beck's Experience.

Captain Beck has been flying about two years. He learned quickly, and since he established a fine reputation as a flier has received an offer of $50,000 for one year's contract with the Curtiss company. He refused this because he feit it his duty to remain in the army. Lieutenant Foulois was one of the first men in the army to learn to manipulate a flying machine.

Recently he was detailed to the militia branch of the War Department, but on May 1 will be sent to some field regiment. Captain Beck is from the Eighteenth Infantry and will return to duty in this renk is centh Infantry and will return to duty in this rank.

If it is impossible to secure a special ruling in behalf of Captain Beck, he will be forced to abandon his plans of flying to New York in May.

During his service in the aviation school Captain Beck has outlined and planned some of the most important experiments that have been conducted by the fliers at College Park and Augusta.

Versed In Wireless.

Just now he is experimenting with a wireless apparatus, and should he have to return to his regiment a delay win be experienced in this work, as the other officers in the school are not as today that this office would not request that the men be retained. "I hate to see them go," said General Allen, chief signal officer, "but under the law they must return to their regiments. Whether or not special permission will the service, I cannot say. Captain Beck is a great flier—one of the best in the country. In addition to this he is a perfect gentleman, and we will miss him."

Senate Expected to Ratify Wireless Treaty

The Senate is expected Monday to ratify the international wireless treaty agreed on by twenty-six nations at the Berlin convention of 1906. The treaty was recently favorably reported by the Foreign Relations Committee. It would give priority in transmission of messages to or from ships in distress and compel exchange of emergency messages between different stations though of different systems. The Marconi interests have fought the ratification of the convention.

DISTRICT DRIVERS

ARE NOT UNDER POLICE CONTROL

Bill Has Been Before Congress, But Never Acted Upon.

Because taxicabs have played an important part in the large number of hold-ups and robberies in New York during the last few weeks, attention has been called to the fact that under the District law the police of Washington have no control or supervision of drivers of public vehicles.

There is a District Hack Inspector, whose business is to se that there are no violations of the public vehicle laws, but he has no supervision over the men who drive automobiles, carriages, and the now almost extinct "night liner," which fast is passing out of existence. Under the present law owners of vehicles may take out the necessary license and hire whom they please to drive them. The police have no right drive them. The police have no right to interfere with the drivers, no matter if they are known criminals with records, as long as the owner has complied with the law by taking out the necessary license in his own name.

In this connection Major Sylvester today pointed out that a bill had been pending in Congress for several years which would give the police the desired control over drinkers of this class of vehicles. However, the bill has never been acted upon.

The bill provides for the licensing of each individual driver upon payment of a nominal sum, not more than 50 cents a year, and also gives the police the right to refuse licenses to persons who have police records, or to revoke the license upon conviction of robbery or a similar oftense in the Police Court.

In his last annual report Major Sylvester said:

"The enactment of a law licensing drivers upon favorable report from the

In his last annual report Major Syrvester said:

"The enactment of a law licensing drivers, upon favorable report from the Police Department, would obviate overcharges, thefts, and imposition by dishonest drivers or chauffeurs and the law should authorize the cancellation of licenses held by any unreliable driver or chauffeur. Instances have been brought to the attention of the police where infoxicated patrons have been robbed, but for fear of publicity refuse robbed, but for fear of publicity refuse to go into court. The law as proposed would eliminate drivers and chauffeurs with bad records."
